

22 October 2024

Media Release:

King Phalo flight disruptions not linked to instrument flight procedures

ATNS wishes to inform the aviation industry and all relevant stakeholders that today's flight disruptions at King Phalo Airport in East London were not related to the instrument flight procedure maintenance programme.

ATNS can confirm that flight procedures for the two runways in this airport are operational.

This morning, the airport experienced severe weather conditions that fell below acceptable approach minima. The cloud base was under 300 feet, requiring missed approaches (go-arounds) until conditions improved.

Issued by the Air Traffic and Navigation Services (ATNS) SOC Ltd

Mphilo K. Dlamini- Head of Corporate Affairs and Communications

076 639 5800

mphilod@atns.co.za